NPG, a national membership organization devoted to population issues, invites students to compete in our Video Scholarship Contest.

Without critical changes, U.S. population is projected to reach 438 million people in less than 40 years. Capture on film how this projected growth will negatively affect the United States socially, economically and environmentally. Submissions must be between 1 and 3 minutes.

The NPG Scholarship Committee will select six (6) winning videos. Videos will be judged on originality, and evidence of critical thinking. All decisions are within the discretion of NPG scholarship judges and all decisions are final. All scholarships will be paid directly to the college or university to be applied to the account of the winner.
